R/HOOD

Credits

How DJs earn and spend on the platform

Credits reward DJs for good work and activity. Earn them, then spend them to boost a listing so more people see it. Brands do not use credits. This is DJ-only.

IN SHORT

Every DJ has a credit balance. Earning adds to it. Spending takes away. The leaderboard shows who has the most. When someone boosts a listing, it sits at the top of the feed for one day.

Earn

Ratings, invites, and mix likes add to a DJ's balance.

Spend

100 credits boosts a listing to the top of the feed for 24 hours.

THE ONLY WAY TO SPEND

Boost a listing

Only DJs · Top of feed for 24 hours

-100

WAYS TO EARN

What happens	Credits	Notes
5 star rating from a brand	+50	When a brand rates a DJ after a gig.
4 star rating from a brand	+25	When a brand rates a DJ after a gig.
Friend joins with your invite	+25	When a friend signs up with a DJ invite code, the inviter gets credits.
3 star rating from a brand	+10	When a brand rates a DJ after a gig.
2 star rating from a brand	+5	When a brand rates a DJ after a gig.
Someone likes your mix	+1	One credit per person. Liking again does not stack.
1 star rating from a brand	0	No credits for a 1 star rating.
Manual top-up or correction	Varies	Team can add or remove credits when something goes wrong.

THINGS WE MAY ADD LATER

We have room for more ways to earn, like finishing a gig, streak bonuses, or peer endorsements. Those are not live yet. Mix likes at +1 are the next small engagement reward we want in place.

QUESTIONS FOR THE TEAM

1. Should finishing a gig give credits on its own, or only when the brand leaves a rating?

2. Is +1 per mix like the right amount, or should it be +2?

3. Should brands ever get credits (for example to feature a listing), or keep this DJ-only?

Share feedback with the team. We will update the live amounts once everyone agrees.